A: I think your problem is the complexity of the previous cracks, that needs a user who knows how to create a chain of cracked programs to install the final cracked version. Therefore, mBot is not a cracked version but a cracked product (a final cracked product). Finally, you must know that the distribution of crack is prohibited by law in most countries (except in some laws like France). Because of this, there is no such as "crack" but "cracked". A: cracked? no, its a legal commercial product, and as far as i know it is used in mines mostly, so its a product where the service is provided for you. A: How about I just link to the official page on the provider's website? Q: Neural Network Formulation Question Can anyone tell me how the following formulation for a neural network works? I know the neurons are firing when the input exceeds a certain threshold, but what is the exact formulation? I want to implement the same thing myself, but I would appreciate an explanation for those without knowledge in the field. A: A neural network consists of several types of neurons. Each neuron of a specific type has the following properties: Output: the output of a neuron is given by the equation $f(a)=w_0+\sum_{i=1}^m w_ia_i+\sum_{j=1}^n b_jh_j$ Input: The neuron has a certain (linear) input function: $i(t)=a_0+\sum_{i=1}^m a_it_i+\sum_{j=1}^n b_jh_j$. Weight: the weight w_0 defines the output of the neuron (sigmoid function with weight w_0), while the weights w_i, $i=1,...,m$ determine the linear properties of the neuron. Hidden: the hidden layer consists of n neurons, which again have a certain linear input function $h_j(t)=a_0+\sum_{i=1}^m a_it_i+\sum_{j=1}^n b_jh_j$. The weight $
