Enhance your image editing skills with these Photoshop tips and tricks. By: Rachel Newton The issue of perceived violence associated with masculinity has been an ongoing one. From Tony Danza (who constantly needed to have his mother remind him how much he loved being a man) to Kiefer Sutherland (who regularly gets into fights with strangers), there are many actor-stars who have often been blamed for allegedly being violent because of their lack of a feminine side. One man who's been the source of this discussion is Taylor Swift. After a rap video of Swift emerged where the singer appeared to be hit over the head by her hat during a concert, a number of websites began to publish a compilation of clips of Swift appearing to be hit by objects and words. The compilation started on Tumblr, and then quickly went viral as the singer became the butt of many jokes. The truth was revealed when Swift's camp admitted that she had hit herself on purpose. Swift's camp didn't comment on the lawsuit because the former part-time model and sometimes actress has dropped a lot of lawsuits against much larger media corporations in the past few years, choosing instead to make jokes about the situation. Swift is currently the biggest star in the world, which includes no shortage of people willing to make jokes about her. Image courtesy of Wikipedia. After the public was able to see the video back in 2014, the videos were explained by fans as Swift hitting herself intentionally with what appeared to be a megaphone in the same act. Swift's camp has been less vocal about the lawsuit, which will only fuel more speculation about who was hit, when, and why. One thing is known: Despite all the speculation, Swift was not hit intentionally. Swift's people have said this in the past, and Swift herself has attempted to clarify the situation with a lengthy Tumblr post in 2015. "I tried to injure myself in a very specific spot on the side of my face and made a video of it to send a message," she wrote. "There was no hidden camera or lies and I never planned on sharing the video with anyone. I was hoping that my team could keep it quiet. I loved talking about my process and how I get more vulnerable when I am working on something that I am really passionate about. I was trying to hit a scar on my face." More than three years later, the lawsuit is still ongoing which contains the messages. The messages consist of text and may be combined with other image formats and resources in the form of a caption. The optional caption is used to describe the messages in the form that you want to display them. Notice that the tracks have a large white space at the beginning and end to allow the caption to be placed in a separate channel and of course it can be used to put the messages in its own channel. And here we are with the final file - README.txt. Conclusion In this tutorial I hope you learned how to use the caption tool to let your community discuss your app while using it. Field of the Invention The invention pertains to the field of rubber molded in place pipe drainage systems of a type which include a pipe support structure having a base formed of a ceramic material and a deck formed of a ceramic material including a bottom surface, and a drainage circuit having at least one inlet port and a pair of outlets ports which are molded in place in the bottom surface of the deck by molded in place plastic material, such as a rubber material, which completely covers the deck. 2. Description of the Prior Art In the fabrication of the prior art plastic molded in place pipe drainage systems the plastic material is molded in place by extrusion over the deck and not by injection molding. In the prior art systems the plastic does not completely fill the space between the base and the deck but tends to ooze, in a rather uncontrolled manner, into the space between the base and the deck. In an effort to control the spreading of the plastic material into the space between the base and the deck an attempt has been made to spray water in the area of the plastic before it is extruded into the space. However, since it is not practical to pour water into the space by dropping a liquid into the area under the deck before extrusion, some sort of foam must be generated and sprayed, or else the water must be sprayed later after the plastic has been extruded into the space. The material tends to spread either as a film or as an ooze which tends to overhang the edges of the base and deck. In addition the prior art systems often do not provide a
